Empowered people. Better results.

BALANCING THE WHEEL OF LIFE

"Before starting the course my focus was work, I was too scared to take a day off, I felt of very little use and certainly not a good manager. I am now much more confident; I know I can be a good manager and I take up the challenge of leadership. My wheel of life is much more in balance now."

Stephen Barfoote, Signiture Rugs.

SHARING THE EXPERIENCE

"The module covering time utilisation was of great benefit to both me and staff, the tools in this module were an effective way for us all to maximise the value of our time and respect the value of the time of others. I particularly appreciated sharing the challenges of each module with the other course attendees, I found them to be supportive in each of the classroom activities and projects."

Mitchell Graham, Taranaki Regional Council.

A NOTICEABLE CHANGE

"As I went through filling out my assignments, I started to notice how I'd been changing along the way. People started noticing change for the better with my organisational skills at work and also the achievements I've made in and outside of work."

Matthew Vibert, Metal Construction.

INCREASING MY WORTH TO THE COMPANY

"I went from dreading each fortnight to not being able to miss a minute. Not being a goal identifier/setter, I have surprised myself by my accomplishments during this time. My greatest accomplishment was to increase my worth to the company so that I can reduce my hours without significantly reducing my income."

Greg Johns, Christchurch Ready-Mix Concrete.

DEVELOPING A GREATER SELF UNDERSTANDING

"The greatest achievement for me is a better understanding of "me"! I've been given tools that allow me to look at my work practices and habits of the past. Therefore I am much better at being objective in the application of the various tools that are provided to us during the course and I'm much more willing to try out new ways of achieving my goals."

Awahi Eperere, King's College.

"This course has helped me gain more focus in my role. I can now see what I'm doing correctly and what I have had to change to succeed in my leadership role. I have gained invaluable knowledge to help me achieve my goals and spend the time I need on my high payoff activities."

Rob Stanton, Vector Limited.

DELEGATING TO SUCCESS

"My delegation skills are now very good. Before this course I tried to carry out every task and I had new staff not moving and learning. Now I delegate to the team members and they are now showing growth.

No longer do I return home after a day at work exhausted. I delegate without guilt. SSTLS is a well run professional course. The knowledge that I have gained will stay with me for the rest of my life."

Grant Lightbody, Aica New Zealand Limited.

"I recognised that the company was prepared to invest in my development which was reassuring and reinforced my commitment to the learning process. Interaction with my manager/mentor on a common focus was priceless."
