

Driving Professional Development

Leadership Management Australia (LMA) has been creating exceptional results through people for over 45 years, working with organisations to boost their bottom line by:

- Developing the leadership of their key people
- Improving their employees' performance and productivity.

LMA has developed a range of management and leadership courses that are specifically aimed at developing your people as they progress along their professional pathway.

Starting with The Performance Edge (designed to assist participants to improve their personal performance and the performance of their people) and ranging all the way to the High Performance Management course (designed to enable participants to develop their management and leadership skills so as to create a high performance environment), LMA T & J Slade wants to support you in your people's development pathway.

Whilst there is no absolutely defined path that fits everyone, we believe most people benefit from progressing in accordance with the following career development process:

Organise yourself → Lead yourself → Lead others → Lead an organisation

The ability to manage yourself, manage your time and manage your priorities is essential to operate at maximum effectiveness in today's ever changing world.

Before you can understand, lead and motivate others you must first understand, lead and motivate yourself. Personal leaders know where they're going and are acting on their plan to get there.

People are the source of all progress and innovation. People are, therefore, the key to success in the 21st century. Strengthening your ability to lead others helps people develop and use more of their potential.

Never before has the need for organisational leaders been more important. A strategic leader can define and develop the purpose of an organisation, the key strategies, the optimum structure, the right people in the right roles and the most effective processes for an organisation to thrive.

If you would like to see how our unique process can integrate with your current strategies to achieve measurable improvements in the performance and productivity of your people, as well as an identifiable ROI, call us now on (AU) 1800 333 270 or (NZ) 0800 333 270